EMERGENCY CONTACT INFORMATION

CAMPER(S) NAME(S) _____

PARENTS' NAMES _____

In case of an emergency at camp, we want to maximize our chances of contacting you. Today, families have access to many different means of communication. Perhaps you or your spouse have a beeper or cellular phone. Maybe you have a paging system at your place of employment. Please list (in the order which we should use them) phone numbers which would help us find you in an emergency and describe what these numbers represent.

CAMP KAMAJI 2011

NON-EMERGENCY CONTACT INFORMATION

CAMPER(S) NAME(S) _____
PARENTS' NAMES _____

During the summer, Camp Kamaji regularly sends “CAMP NOTES” and e-messages to camper’s parents. Too, our cabin counselors will be e-mailing parents twice a session to provide feedback about their daughter’s Kamaji experience. It is important, then, to have accurate e-mail addresses for both parents. We would ask you to list below PARENTS’ e-mail addresses you would like us to use this summer.

We MUST be able to send you emails with attachments as well as possible imbedded “objects” in the text (e.g. your daughter’s porch group picture. Please set your e-mail settings to accept these messages.

Also, please add mike@kamaji.com, kathy@kamaji.com and kat@kamaji.com to your e-address books so that incoming e-messages from us will not be viewed as SPAM and sent to your JUNK files. Thank you!

_____ Relationship to Camper

During your daughter's stay at Kamaji, we may want to contact you by telephone to discuss some aspect of camp life. For instance, should your daughter not receive mail for a few days or should we have questions about her medications or if she might need an extra pair of shoes or if we want to tell you that she passed into an advanced sailing class - all of these relays would be non-emergency situations. With that in mind, please list (in the order we should use them) those phone numbers which would help us find you – the parents – in a non-emergency situation.
